Phonemic Awareness, Phonological Awareness, Phonics: What's the difference? by Maureen Pollard

For teachers, parents, psychologists, speech pathologists and others

Many teachers and parents are confused over these terms and what they actually mean. Maureen will clarify the terms as well as provide practical ideas and activities to use in the classroom. Maureen will discuss research findings and how to obtain great outcomes by understanding how we can include this knowledge in our teaching.

The new National Curriculum includes phonemic awareness and phonics as part of the literacy curriculum. Come and learn about this from a very experienced teacher, literacy consultant, lecturer and publisher. Her workshops for teachers, schools and parents focus on practical strategies for building phonemic awareness skills and alphabetic knowledge to help children read, write and spell with confidence.

Maureen has published SoundCheck, SoundCheck 2, Sylvester Syllable Game as well as Little Learners Love Literacy – a multi-sensory literacy program for children 4 – 6 years.
